What does the Oxford Community Center mean to me?

Family, friendship, education, charity, volunteerism, entertainment, support - just a few words that come to mind. But after so many years in Oxford, OCC really means something even simpler to me: home.

My family's OCC story started long before I joined the Board. My children attended Ms. Jenny's after-school program and Oxford Kids Camp. Jameson - the best dog ever - learned his leash manners at an OCC-sponsored dog training class. My mom created "Oxford Picket Fences" to auction for charity. My dad did what he did best: served, including on the OCC Board.

And me? OCC helped me find my place behind the bar!

Our story is just one of many. If you've lived in Oxford for any length of time, chances are you have an OCC story too - a concert, a class, a party, a friendship made, yoga, car show, a child biking around town in camp, or simply a good night spent with neighbors.

That's what OCC does. It brings us together.

And this year, your support matters more than ever.

It has been a challenging time for nonprofits everywhere, and OCC is no exception. Costs are rising, charitable giving is tighter, and some of the funding OCC has relied on in the past is no longer available. That means we need the support of this community more than ever.

I hope you'll join me in making a gift to the OCC Annual Fund. Your contribution helps keep our doors open, our historic building cared for, and the programs and gatherings that bring Oxford together accessible to all.

Because OCC is so much more than a building. It's a place to connect, make friends, lend a hand - and, if you're lucky, maybe even find your place behind the bar.

It's the people who make the Oxford Community Center special.

My family has been fortunate to be part of OCC for many years. With your help, it will be here for many years to come.

Thank you for supporting OCC and this place we are so fortunate to call home.
With gratitude,

Gordon "GL" Fronk
